TWO CENTS

VICTIM OF ATTACK IS IN THE HOSPITAL

M. J. Cohen, Aged 47 Years, of Irwin, Assaults James Toward, Aged 60, of Arden District—Breaks His Collarbone

IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Charged Cohen First Hit Toward on the Head with a Stone, Felling Him; He Then Secured a Brick and Hit Him On the Shoulder

James Toward, aged 60 years, one of the men operating a small mine on a farm near Arden, was assaulted yesterday afternoon by M. J. Cohen of Irwin, who is 47 years old. Cohen was arrested by Constable George R. Mosley, and is being held in the county jail.

It is said that Cohen first hit Mr. Toward on the head with a stone, and then after he had felled him, secured a brick and hit him on the shoulder, breaking his collarbone.

Constable Mosley was at Arden when notified of the attack, and he immediately started for the scene of the alleged assault. He followed Cohen to the county seat, where he placed him under arrest and a charge preferred against him of aggravated assault and battery, before Alderman J. F. Carmichael.

Mr. Toward was taken to the Washington hospital for treatment.

According to report, Cohen formerly held a lease on the Maroney farm, but lost his right to operate it. He seems to be possessed with the idea that the property is his, and becomes angry and unreasoning when he finds other people on persons there. He is said to have threatened a number of people. Mr. Toward and a number of associates had secured a lease on the mine and have been working it.

FOUR DEAD FROM THE ETHYL FUMES

New York, October 29.—William Kresge, died in a straight jacket today at the Reconstruction hospital following the let of victims in the Bay Way plant of the Standard Oil company to four.

Six of the men were reported to be in a serious condition.

Standard Oil officials informed the prosecutor, A. J. David of Union county, New Jersey, who is investigating the conditions at the plant, that the manufacture of Ethyl fumes of which killed and drove insane workers of the plant, have been going on for only six weeks.

THINK!

Citizens who do not vote should never criticize any administration of public business because by not voting they have made it none of their business. The public business of the United States is so well managed today, under the leadership and executive direction of President Coolidge that your taxes and government expenses are being very greatly reduced and your property under the Constitution is safeguarded. Our right-thinking people are happier and our nation commands the respect and admiration of the world. A change could only be a disastrous innovation, bringing poverty, unhappiness and failure. The Democratic party when in power showed a complete incompetency to successfully deal with economic questions or public business. The election of the self-promoted candidate of the new freak party could only result in destroying all that is good in our national structure and social fabric. VOTE—Let there be no slackers in the Republican Party.

Responses To Hospital Fund Being Made

Responses to the hospital subscription are being made in a satisfactory manner, even exceeding the expectations of the board of directors. It is the purpose of the board to make the collections of the subscriptions, which they are paying quarterly, the first quarter was due September 1, the next quarter is due December 1, the third, March 1, June 1, et cetera. It is the hope of the board of directors that the subscribers to the hospital fund make their subscription payments promptly and as they become due so this will enable the board to execute its plans for the erection of the greatly needed structure.

In its efforts to advance the interests of the hospital, and all that its construction will mean to Charleroi and the people of this community, who will derive so much benefit from it, the board of directors have under consideration the appointment of an Advisory board, an auxiliary of the Hospital board, prominent local business men, who will lend the weight of their assistance in matters which will aid in the hospital interest.

Two Persons Injured When An Automobile Topples Over Bank

Silas Edwards, 24 years old, of Monessen, is confined to his home by serious injuries, and Jacob Love, 25 years old also of Monessen, is hurt as a result of an accident late last night on the Monongahela-Donora pike.

A Maxwell touring car, owned by Constable Walter Wyatt of Rostraver township, which had been loaned to Edwards to make a trip to Monongahela figured in the wreck. Edwards lost control of the car, which left the highway, bounded across the Pittsburgh Railway Company tracks, crashed through a fence and toppled over a 10-foot embankment. The machine landed on the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad. Edwards and Love were both pinned under the wreckage. Love managed to crawl from under the overturned car and was making an attempt to rescue Edwards from a perilous position beneath the machine when motorists stopped and assisted the men in moving the car from the tracks.

John Eckbreth and Val N. Moore of Monongahela who were enroute to Monongahela from Donora, were hailed by the occupants of a Donora board car, and stopping the men removed Edwards from the wreckage of the machine to the railroad tracks. While less than a quarter of a mile away a speeding freight train was approaching. The crew of a street car, which had stopped nearby, ran to flag the train, while passengers hurried to remove the car from the tracks. Both injured men were in a semi-conscious condition, but resuscitated and taken to the Memorial hospital for treatment.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH IS SCENE OF A HAPPY SOCIAL

Although a number of large social affairs were in session last evening, throughout the borough over 150 responded to the efforts of the Crozier club members and were in attendance at the annual Halloween social and entertainment held in the recently remodeled church school room of St. Mary's Episcopal church. The affair was a huge success from both a financial and social standpoint and was attended by one of the largest gatherings held in the church for some time.

The room was beautifully decorated with black cats, goblins, lanterns and black and orange crepe paper, making a pretty scene for the occasion. Many came masked and prizes were given the persons wearing the most comic and the prettiest costumes. The greater part of the evening was spent in playing games, led by Miss Dorothy Fellows. The features of the evening, however, were the solos by Miss Edith Keys, accompanied on the piano by Miss Gertrude McKenna. Miss Keys sang in her usual pleasing manner and her selections were highly enjoyed. Later in the evening Fred Crichton entertained with a song and several readings, which were well received.

A committee of Crozier members and others, who had been busily engaged in the kitchen all evening served fine refreshments at a later hour. Playing of additional games brought the highly successful and enjoyable evening to a close.

18 MEN SUFFER FROM STRANGE GAS FUMES

New York, Oct. 29.—Eighteen men are now in the Reconstruction hospital here suffering from the strange gas fumes in the Bayway. N. J. plant of the Standard Oil Company, which has already caused the death of three men.

Investigation of conditions at the plant has been started and Prosecutor A. J. David of Union County, N. J., announced today that he will follow the evidence he can get before the grand jury next week before it is dismissed.

All of the victims of the gas are suffering from delirium and most of them are in a straight jacket when death came.

Physicians so far have been unable to discover an antidote for the "looney gas." The plant has been closed pending the outcome of the investigation.

Two Orchard Inspection Meetings To Be Held In County On Friday

A FORD TOURING CAR IS STOLEN LAST NIGHT

Two orchard inspection meetings will be held in this county on Friday, October 31. The meetings will be held in the orchards of McClelland Bros. near Canonsburg, at 9:30 a. m., and Mehta Bros., Finleyville, at 2 p. m. These meetings are for the purpose of checking up on the results obtained by using an oil preparation as a dormant spray for the control of scale and red spider, two serious orchard pests. This spray was applied in these two orchards in such a way that a good check may be made on its effectiveness.

F. L. MacCleod, extension entomologist of Pennsylvania State college, will discuss orchard insects and their control. All fruit growers will be well repaid for attending these meetings.

THE ANNUAL AFFAIR IS VERY PLEASING

The annual President's reception of the Gothic Literary club was held last evening at the Elks club with officers of the Monday Musical club, Athene Club and Woman's Federation of clubs as guests. There were forty members and friends present. In the community room the following program was carried out which was much enjoyed:

Reading, Mrs. George C. Fetter; piano solo, Mrs. Irene Wilson; vocal solo, Miss Adah McCague, piano solo, Miss Mary Latchem, vocal solo, Mrs. Elanice Toner. Following the program the assembly repaired to the dining room below, where dainty refreshments were served at prettily decorated tables. Yellow asters were the prevailing decoration.

The retiring president, Miss Elva Majors, gave a splendid talk in which she thanked the members for the past year. Her talk was followed by one by Miss Manuel Scott the new president. Both officers were presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses each, the presentation speech being made by Mrs. Louis T. Fiedler. Greetings were also given by Mrs. J. D. Berryman, president of the Athene club, Mrs. W. B. Pfeighardt, president of the Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Thelma Lowstuter, president of the Monday Musical club.

Matter of Publication of Income Tax to Be Made Basis of a Suit, One Paper to Be Used in the Test Suit

SITUATION IS NOT CLEAR

If Decision Against Paper Is Made, the Case, It Is Felt, Will Ultimately Go to the Supreme Court. Hastened There By the Department of Justice

Washington, Oct. 29.—Attorney General Stone today studied lists of newspapers which printed income tax payment figures with a view to choosing from them one paper against which suit will be brought by the federal government to settle the conflict of statutes regarding publicity.

Personally holding that the publication of figures was not authorized in conformity with the laws as they stand, Stone will ask the courts, through the medium of the suit to decide what the intent of Congress was in enacting limited publicity and at the same time enacting a penalty for publication.

On the face of the situation, Stone holds, papers had no right to print the figures because the law apparently gave the commissioner of internal revenue a discretion to prescribe the manner in which figures would be open to public inspection. He pointed out that the sole place authorized was in the offices of internal revenue collectors.

Nevertheless, Stone recognizes that there are links and twists to the law which cannot be definitely settled short of the courts, the final interpreters of the statutes, and to clear up the confusion, will start the test suit immediately, perhaps today.

Papers in all sections of the country printed the figures and Stone had a wide field to choose from. At least one paper, the Cincinnati Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, already has had the preliminary formalities of prosecution instituted against it, through a citation delivered to the United States district attorney, by the internal revenue collector of its district.

Stone may choose the Post because of the advancement of the case, or may select any of a hundred other papers. Four papers in Washington printed figures and the attorney general may choose to bring the action (Continued on page six)

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Charleroi High Is Standing Out In Front In The W. P. I. A. L. Championship Race

This morning's Washington Observer, in commenting on the football situation, says:

"Washington county gives promise of having two contenders for the championship of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association this season.

"Hank" Day's Washington High school eleven is going along undefeated in its class. It was beaten last Saturday by the older, more experienced and much heavier Washington and Jefferson college freshman eleven but it is not thought that this contest can be considered against its record as far as competition in the state trophy is concerned.

"The Washington and Jefferson college freshmen do not come within the age limit fixed by the W. P. I. A. L. nor the provision regarding the period which they have played football, all members of the squad having had at least four years of experience and some of them more.

"The Monongahela valley section of Washington county will furnish the other contender. Charleroi and California High school elevens are undefeated, they having chalked up a victory in every start. California has beaten Monessen, Homestead, Donora and Monongahela, while Charleroi has an equally impressive record with victories over the California Normal Reserves, Homestead, Glassport and Rochester.

"H. W. Crane, of Monongahela High school, has protested California's 6 to 0 victory of last Saturday. He claims that a faulty decision by the referee changed the aspect of the struggle and at least put California in position to start its march for a touchdown. Monongahela punted and one of its players downed the ball on the California seven-yard line. The referee declared it a touchback and ordered scrimmage on the 20-yard line.

"This ruling relieved a rather tense situation. The ball had been downed at one corner of the field. The decision that it was a touchback therefore took California away from the proximity of its goal line and placed the ball in the middle of the field. The decision committee of the W. P. I. A. L. has been notified of the ruling and has been asked for its opinion.

"Monongahela was unbent previous to its game with California, its playing having been the real surprise of the scholastic season in Washington county.

"November 8 will probably determine the championship of the Monongahela valley for on that date Charleroi and California will meet at Charleroi. Captain "Red" Edwards of California has been out of the game with a bad ankle but he is being saved for the Charleroi struggle. California has this Saturday permanently open to prepare for Charleroi.

"Two other teams in Washington county remain undefeated but they do not hold membership in the W. P. I. A. L. They are Trinity High school, of Washington, and Bentleyville High school. Trinity, coached by Red Dunn, played a scoreless tie with McDonald in the opening game of the season, but since then has beaten Ninevah, Morris, East Washington, and Bridgeville.

"Bentleyville has defeated Burgettstown, Elizabeth, East Washington and the Washington High School Reserves, and played a tie with Belle Vernon.

"These two schools are real contenders for the championship of the so-called secondary high schools of the county, this classification being determined by the size of the student bodies."

Veteran Trainer Eck Relates Sport Yarns

Tom Eck, veteran University of Chicago trainer, who is pioneering in training of women athletes as he has in nearly every kind of training, from bicycle racers to trotting horses, once explained the psychology of lighter equipment for women athletes.

"Tom is a good showman as well as a trainer, so he had eight-pound weights made the same size as the sixteen-pound shot used by men. When a slender girl athlete heaved the eight-pound ball the spectators were properly impressed by the feat."

Eck is also the authority for the fact that the first rules of track competition were copied out of the rules of trotting horse racing. If A. A. U. officials stuck a little closer to the "horse sense" of those original rules perhaps they would have discovered along the track.

While our boys may not exceed our expectations, our expenses always do.

Most Colorful Year in Boxing History

Boxing was in a turmoil last season. Eugene Cripp knocked out Johnny Killane and won the featherweight crown and a month later Johnny Dunne smothered Cripp and took the newly acquired title from him. Pancho Villa won the world's lightweight title from Jimmy Wilde, who had held it a long, long time. Floyd Johnson and Jess Willard were going for a crack at Dempsey. Willard put Johnson away and then Luis Angel Firpo obliterated Willard. Dempsey met Tommy Gans at Shelby, Mont., and Gibbons surprised Dempsey, the world and himself by staying 15 rounds. Later on Dempsey put Firpo away. Benny Leonard disposed of the only important challenger for the lightweight championship, Low Tindler. Harry Greb defeated Wilson late in the season and relieved him of the middleweight title.

OPINIONS IN TRADE DIVIDED; NEIHAUS IS REGARDED AS PIVOT

Had a stranger breezed into Pittsburgh yesterday, he would have been looking for the straw hats and Palm Beach suits which usually go with baseball chatter. Everywhere, despite the tang of autumn in the air, fans talked baseball, all because overnight the Pittsburgh club had cut loose with three of its veterans in a trade with the Cubs. Merits and demerits were discussed by baseball sharps, grandstand managers, and just plain every day fans. Opinions were as wide as the poles—all of which goes to prove that it will take next season to show which club really derived the benefit from the deal which rocked the baseball world.

"Is it fair to give away experience for experimental hitting strength?" "Did the club finally realize that it was internal dissension rather than ability of individual players which robbed the Pirates of their flag chances in the last three or four years?" "Why was an acknowledged fielding star given away to make way for an untied proposition at first base, the spot which has been a nightmare to the Pirates ever since Kitty Brunsfield left?" "How will an infield with Traynor, a man of three years' experience as a veteran, stand up in the race when hard boiled players on other clubs have cracked under the strain in the dying days of an exciting pennant race?" "Why did the Pirates get rid of a great left hander, which are scarce articles, to take on a right hander who is getting up in years and of which there are plenty?" "Is there any connection with this trade and the recent scandal?" "The players moved needed a change of scenery, but will this getting rid of them do the club a lot of good?" "If I had men in my business with whom I could not get along in a way to make the business a success, I'd get rid of them, too."

These are only some of the remarks heard throughout the day wherever baseball fans gathered, which showed that baseball chatter, dead almost a month ago, came to life with a bang, even before the stove leagues had dusted up their charters for another season.

Others, letting their sympathy run away with their judgment, bemoaned the passing of three popular players from that angle alone. One, particularly inclined, resurrected the old sore of the "breaking up, for good and all, of the famous quartet, which so often sung itself near the top of the league and then ran out of notes." With the going of the Rab and Grimm, the last vestige of the famous singing group of Tierney, Whitted, Maranville and Grimm, has passed from Pittsburgh, and now we may have ball players who may not be able to sing operatic selections, but who can do what they are supposed to on a ball club.

TICKETS FOR THE DEMARCO-O'BRIEN SCRAP

All those who are desirous of obtaining tickets for the DeMarco-O'Brien fight at Motor Square Garden, Monday evening, November 3 may do so at R. O. Vetter's Tailoring establishment, 311 Pallowfield avenue. In spite of the fact the DeMarco is nursing a sprained ankle, he is working out to perfection and Monday night will see him in the best of condition for his encounter with "Pepe" O'Brien.

While our boys may not exceed our expectations, our expenses always do.

DOLAN INCLUDES BAN JOHNSON IN THE SUIT FOR DAMAGES

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, while in Milwaukee, to talk before the Izaak Walton League, was served with papers in a suit by Oscar "Hap" Felsch and Joe Jackson, banished Whitson players, for the recovery of their share of the second place money for 1920. Landis was directed to appear here next Monday. According to Ray Cannon, attorney for the players, Landis has steadfastly refused to give up the second place shares of Felsch and Jackson despite the fact that the presidents of the two major leagues have advised him to do so.

New York, Oct. 28.—Cozy Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants, banished for alleged complicity in an attempted bribery deal with Jimmy O'Connell, will seek damages of not less than $100,000 in the suit he plans to bring against baseball commissioner Landis, according to W. J. Fallon, Dolan's attorney.

Papers in the suit, which also will name Presidents Johnson and Heydler of the American and National League as defendants, will be filed in Federal court, New York, not later than Friday of this week, Fallon said. The action accuses baseball's executives of libel, seeks Dolan's restoration to good standing, and his share of the world series money.

WALKER AND MALONE READY FOR BIG BOUT

Mickey Walker will invade the middleweight class this evening. He is facing Jack Malone, one of the fastest middleweights in the point of boxing speed that ever lived.

The Newark armory is to be the scene of the strife. It is to involve no championship, the welterweight crown isn't in danger, as Malone, despite his argument to the contrary, will be well over the welterweight limit. There is to be no decision of course, yet with all these trimmings absent, the bout will probably break all records for Mickey Walker attendance. The welterweight champion is exceedingly popular in his own state, and though he comes from Elizabeth, Newark looks upon him as one of her white-haired boys.

The big thing in the battle is to determine whether Walker has any business in the middleweight class. He has long sought a chance to mingle with the best at that weight. At one time he was for challenging Mike O'Dowd, Johnny Wilson and Harry Greb, middleweight champions in the order of their fall and rise.

Walker is a hard hitter, a well seasoned fighter, and able to travel in the middleweight class on strength alone.

Have you looked over the West Column today? It will pay you.

CALIFORNIA HOPES TO REVERSE DECISION IN NOVEMBER GAME

Some person with talent for lyric composition, in the California Sentinel of last week, endeavors, through no wonder genius, to cast hopes to the doubt that dispels the minds of the average fan in the Normal town that the High School Football team of that place really has a chance with Charleroi in the struggle for supremacy to be played here on November 8.

Reading between the lines of the poem, which has for its caption "Beat Charleroi," it is significant that its penning was prompted to encourage the Normal team and its supporters. The Charleroi boys intend to treat California right—but they are going to "repeat," and will win the contest on its merits. We will treat you courteously, California, but really, we are not going to allow you to beat us. Self assurance is a great thing, but it will take real football playing to defeat Charleroi, and we can't allow California to win—now.

Come on, boys, the lathstring is that you are up against a team that is going to win the high school championship this year; but we promise not to let you "fall very hard" inasmuch as we have a neighborly feeling, and next to Charleroi, we trust that California will come in at the finish a "good second."

The poem in reference, which has been posted in the school halls of Charleroi—to give the boys an incentive for their best efforts on November 8, reads:

"BEAT CHARLEROI"
Our hardest contest is nearly here,
So come out all students and help us to cheer.

For to cheer is to help, and help we must.
We'll make Charleroi players bite the dust.

Our boys for their courage are very well noted,
And one of the best teams in the valley are voted.

A school may be down but never out," say we all.
So careful Charleroi or you'll get a fall.

Last year by your victory we felt gium,
But we're coming back, now here we come.

With colors flying and lots of cheer,
We're after the cup and revenge for past years.

No doubt you are confident, so are we.
As to outcome of the contest we'll wait and see.

If it be our fate that we should lose,
We'll not give way to a valley of blues.

But just you wait and see who'll laugh at all.
We're out to explode all Charleroi raff.

It's to Charleroi we're going on November the eighth,
And we'll win the game as sure as fate.

So come out and cheer every good fellow,
And show Charleroi, California's not yellow.

And if we lose, we'll do no crying,
But we're coming out with our colors flying.

JOHN MCGRAW TELLS OF HORNSBY TRADE

Negotiations With Rickey Were Sudden and Brief.

John McGraw, talking of his "negotiations" with officials of the St. Louis Cardinals concerning Rogers Hornsby gives the impression that the meeting was brief and impromptu.

"I had a talk with Branch Rickey and Sam Brandon, and we did not confer very long. In fact, the conference, insofar as the Hornsby matter was concerned, consisted of only a few short sentences," says McGraw.

"There were six of us at the table and after some casual preliminaries somebody said to Rickey: 'Well, I see you are going to trade Hornsby.' Rickey replied: 'No, we are not going around peddling the second baseman. But perhaps we would listen to a reasonable proposition."

"Here I entered the conversation," said McGraw. "I asked Rickey whom he would take in trade."

"Rickey replied: 'We would accept Frisch and—'

"Well, Rickey got no farther with that trade," McGraw laughed. "I said: 'What, boy—stop right there! Let's talk about something else.' Then there the New York-St. Louis deal fell flatter than a pancake."

"What do you think of the nerve of Rickey asking for Frisch and—? I didn't want to learn who the others were. That will remain one of the interesting mysteries of the world. I told Rickey that I would not give Frisch for Hornsby in an even trade. Just imagine—Frisch and—? I guess maybe he wanted Young, Neff, Bancroft and Menzel along with Frisch."

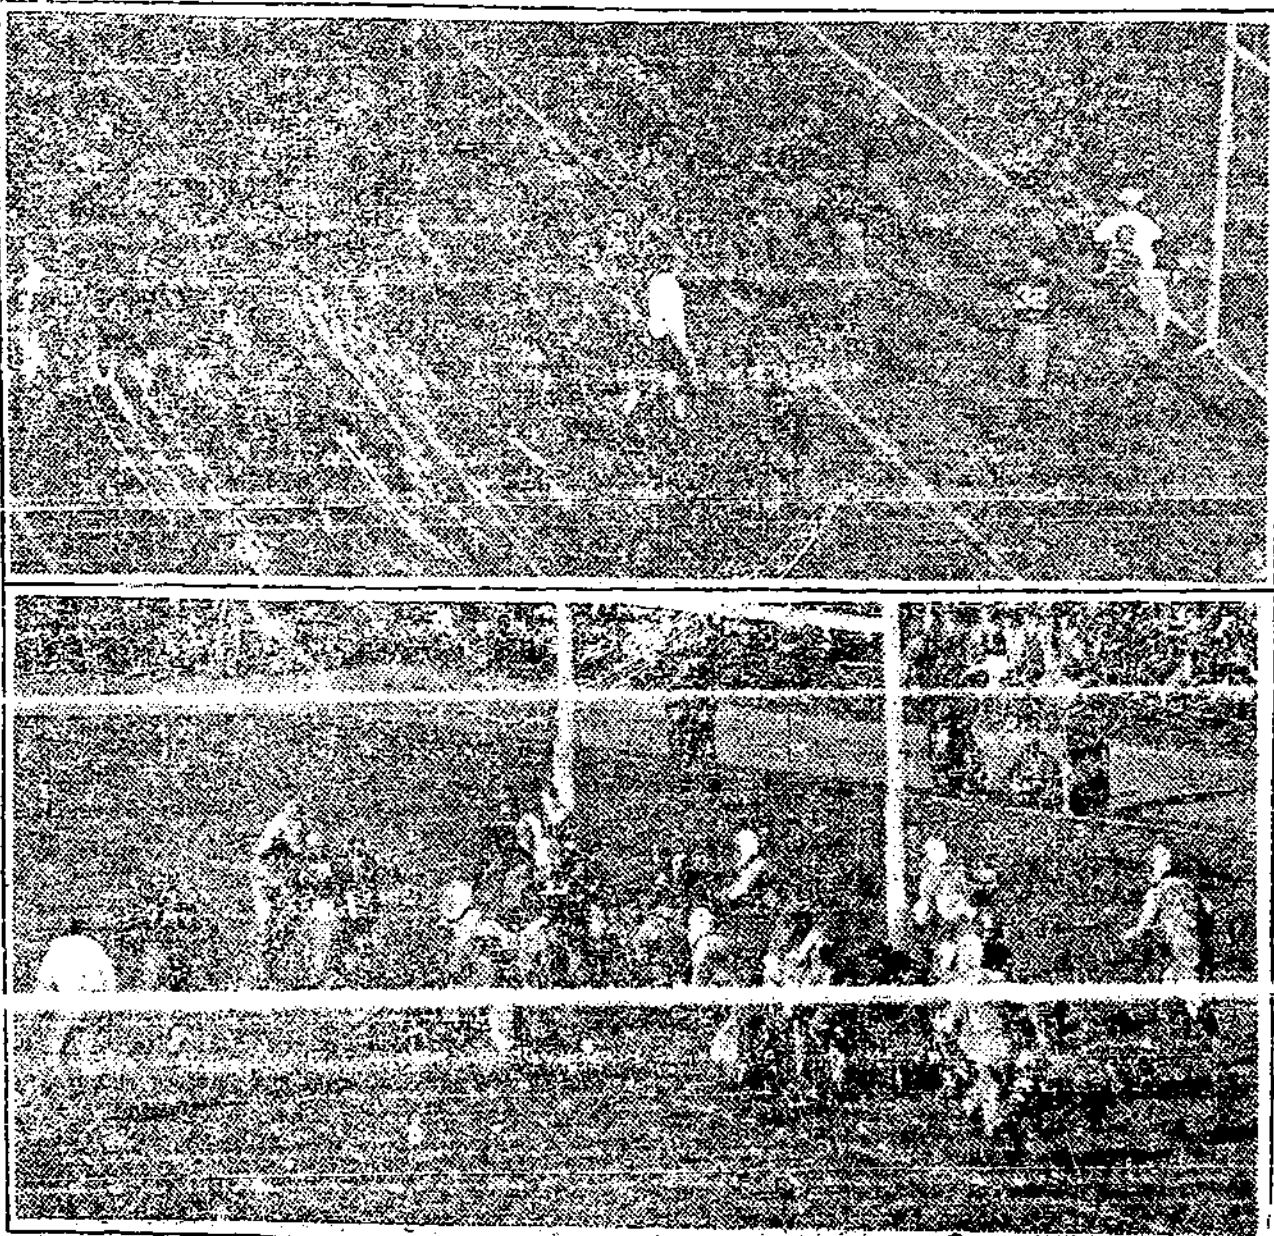

COUNTY CLOSED TO BEAR AND TURKEYS

Westmoreland county is closed to the hunting of wild turkeys and bear until 1920, according to a notice which has been sent out recently by Seth E. Gordon, executive secretary of the game commission.

Scarcity of wild turkeys and bear at present is believed to have been the reason for the edict of the game commission. It is thought that a number of seasons closed to the hunting of the several varieties of game, the propagation of the game will result in an increase of the supply later.

Westmoreland county, however, is not the only county in the state to be closed to certain kinds of game, as in shape. Dave Rosenberg, 415 Pallowfield Avenue, Bell Phone 244. 61tf

Columbia and Notre Dame Gridders Prove Mettle

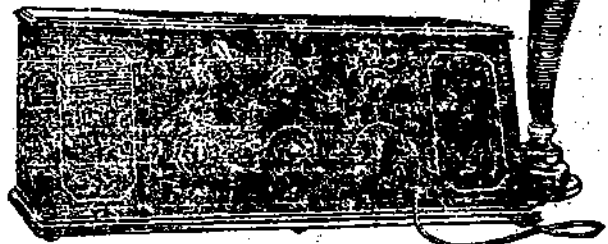

That Percy Houghton is coming into his own at Columbia was thoroughly demonstrated by its 21 to 3 victory over Williams. The same afternoon the west, represented by Notre Dame, was giving a resounding smack to the east, or Princeton, by a 12 to 0 score. Above: Growley of Notre Dame is seen making a touchdown; below, Captain Koppisch of Columbia is going over for a touchdown from the 2-yard line.

SEARCH FOR MEN BOMBING HOME OF THE MAYOR

Niles, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Police and Trumbull county officers are searching for the men who bombed the home of Mayor Harvey O. Kistler here early today.

The dwelling was damaged to the extent of $1,000 Mayor and Mrs. Kistler were sleeping in an upstairs room but were uninjured.

The bombing followed a long conference called by the mayor with Klan and anti-Klan representatives in an effort to prevent threatened trouble if members of the Klan paraded in Niles Saturday. No settlement was reached at the meeting.

"Sweeping" the Clouds

The faded performance of the old woman of the nursery rhyme who "swept" the cobwebs out of the sky has a scientific parallel in the ability of aviators under some conditions to brush small clouds out of the sky by flying through them rapidly, says London Tit-Bits. A fair-sized summer cumulus or fair-weather cloud may sometimes be dispersed by about twenty flights through it.

Removing Tattoo Marks

Although tattoo marks generally are asserted to be indelible if produced by the insertion of some carbonaceous matter, it is said they will disappear if first well rubbed with a salve of pure acetic acid and lard, then with a solution of polish and finally with a solution of hydrochloric acid. It would be advisable to consult a skin specialist.

Training School For Women Speakers Prepares Five Hundred Republicans For Platform Work In Fall Campaign

"A training school for women speakers." This was the slogan that was used to attract the training school for women speakers which was recently conducted by the Women's National Republican Club in New York City.

More than 500 women were attracted by the slogan and fully attended both afternoon and evening sessions for three days to hear authorities on many topics including the tariff, taxes, agriculture and labor. At the conclusion of the school the women were asked to speak before an advisory board consisting of women who have a reputation throughout the country for their ability in presenting political arguments. Those who passed this test were given diplomas and recommendations were made to the Speakers Bureau of the Republican National and State Committees and of New York County Committee to use these women as a part of the campaign forces.

Mrs. Grace Vanamee who conducted the speakers classes gave out the following advice:

"Don't apologize for your speech. If an apology is necessary, the speech should not be made."

"Don't tell your audience that you are not going to make a long speech and then proceed to make one. The effect is bad."

"Don't be a repeater. Say what you have to say once, make your point, and move on to the next one."

"Don't lead up to a point and forget to make it. Audiences do not forget."

"Don't use long sentences, and don't omit your verb. Nouns and verbs strengthen your speech—too many adjectives weaken it."

"Don't use statistics unless you know they are correct. Inaccuracies provide ammunition for the enemy."

"Don't attempt to discuss in detail all the issues of the campaign in a ten-minute speech. It can't be done."

"Don't tell some other speaker's pet story. Play fair. Stand on your own feet."

"Don't encroach upon the time of the other speakers—the golden rule is excellent when applied to public speaking."

"Don't be childish as to your part of the program, do what your chairman wants when he wants it. In five minutes you may win or lose your audience. Let your slogan be 'Quality, not quantity.'"

The school was one of the most interesting that has ever taken place in New York City. Mrs. Richard Bennett, Miss Virginia Chauvenet and other well-known women of the stage sat side by side with the women from the rural counties of New York who were anxious to learn the secrets of making a campaign speech.

Is Green No More

"My experience with your medicine has been wonderful. My stomach and liver trouble of five years standing took a new turn two years ago when I took an olive green complexion. I spent $1,200 with doctors and specialists to prove that I was still as green as ever. A friend advised me to take May's Wonderful Remedy, and I am green no more. My stomach and liver trouble has all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

Today and Yesterday

FEW youngsters to-day ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, radios, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavery. They bring late improvements within your reach.

Read the advertisements regularly. Keep alert to the new.

Without advertising, you would never know a product's worth until you had bought it

THE JERUSALEM OF TODAY.

According to Dr. David Yellin, Vice-Mayor of Jerusalem, now in New York, the ancient city is rapidly becoming a modern metropolis. His account issued through the Palestine Foundation Fund (Zionist) shows the existence of up to date spirit and method. We read that Jerusalem's streets are being widened, straightened and systematically named, that it is soon to have a power plant and lighting system and that sewers and water-pipes are being laid; that the ancient city already has motor-buses with a fleet of 6 shillings per hour.

with a fleet of 6 shillings per hour. traffic policemen who arrest speed violators, and a great variety of popular sports, including Rugby, horse races, track and field games, and "hikes" for boy and girl scouts. Moreover, there is "first-rate opera" and a theatre which presents everything from Shakespeare to popular movies.

All this is concrete and literal, obviously in no way related to the Apocalyptic vision of a "holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven"—long accepted by Christian students as a symbolic description of a regenerated world's happy millennium. But this literal "new Jerusalem" must seem good and be highly acceptable to the more cultured Arabians as well as to the Jews from the countries of the West who have settled under British protection in the city of their ancient forefathers.

AFTER THE DAY'S WORK.

Mr. Coolidge conceives it to be the business of a President not only to attend to the routine affairs of the executive office, but also to lend the Presidential influence to any worthy object that will contribute to the public welfare. This he did when he took time to attend the ceremonies incident to the welcome home of the victorious Washington baseball team. He took occasion to deliver an address to the Washington players on the lesson to be drawn from their endeavors and on the value of the game as a diversion from our more serious duties.

THE OFFICE CAT

A Common Desire.

It is reported that the Prince of Wales would marry a Canadian or an American girl if he could have his way, but why make a fuss about that? Plenty of older men than the prince have a similar inclination.

You seem to be very fond of jazz music.

Yes, I like it best of all, was the reply. You don't have to put on formal attire when you listen to it, nobody asks you who wrote it, and you don't have to pretend that you understand it.

No girl should teach more than three years in one town. If she can't get a husband in that time, it is a waste of time to stay on.

The Bitters Bitten.

A couple of Charlevoi motorists, riding near a farm orchard, stopped the car, got out, climbed the wall and gathered half a peck of rosy apples. To complete the "joke" they slowed down as they went by the farmhouse and called out to the proprietor, "We helped ourselves to your apples, old man. I thought we'd tell you."

"Oh, that's all right," the farmer called back. "I helped myself to your tools while you were in the orchard."

A Surprise.

Is (over the phone)—What time are you expecting me?
She (icily)—I'm not expecting you at all.
He—Then I'll surprise you.

Build for yourself a strong box. Fashion each part with care: Put it with lid and padlock. Put all your troubles there. Hide therein all your failures. And each bitter cut and quip; Lock all your heartaches within it. Then sit on the lid and laugh. Tell no one of its contents. Never its secrets share; Drop in your cares and worries. Keep them forever there. Hide them from sight so completely. The world will never dream half; Fasten the top down securely. Then sit on the lid and laugh.

Word's Real Meaning

When we say "going downstairs," we really mean, if the phrase is used rightly, "going up." "Down" is derived from the Saxon word "dun" which means a hill or upland. The opposite to "dun" is "a-dun" so what we should say when a descent is meant, is "going a-downstairs."

PASSING OF OLD SHIP END OF ERA

Last of Sailing Whalers "Piled Up" on Rocks.

New Bedford, Mass.—The Wanderer, last of New Bedford whalers, is through. She finished where she began, and today is pounding to pieces on the rocky ledges of Cutty-hunk.

It marks the end of an era—the passing of an era of romance when "iron men" went down to the sea in wooden ships—the end of the era that gave New Bedford its "whaler's motto"—"A dead whale or a stove boat."

The Wanderer sailed on the cruise of 18 months, scheduled to be her last. The cruise lasted little more than a day, and the voyage for 15 miles. For Captain Antonio Edwards, the skipper, found he hadn't enough men, so the bark was anchored off Misbaum Point. During his absence the Wanderer blew to drag anchor during what her crew of another generation would have called a mild breeze, drifted before a northerly gale and went on the rocks. And the Wanderer, half a century the proudest of New Bedford's fleet of imposing whalers, is breaking up on Middle Ground shoals, a total loss, ending her career, as the old plainman—with her boots on.

Captain Edwards, who has been sailing on whalers for 32 years, reported the boat a total loss. Her foremast had dropped through her hull and she had buckled amidships.

While thousands of visitors thronged the deck of the Wanderer 48 hours before, sea-tanned whalers were overhauling her gear, striding the whaling spades and titing the trying-out kettles just as they did a hundred years ago when whaling was in its heyday and New Bedford was the whaling port of North America.

The Wanderer is known to thousands through a popular moving-picture film, in which she was used in the whaling scenes. It was planned to put her back into the movies.

Built in 1848, bark-rigged and coppered, the Wanderer's bulwarks rose high over the deck, while her wheel was entirely covered by the high poop deck. The bulwarks were so high it was impossible to see to starboard.

Swedish Farms Lighted and Operated by Current

Stockholm.—While the utilization of water power for every purpose has been developing rapidly in Sweden during the last two decades, there is a strong tendency at present to convert the turbine power into electric energy for further industrial use. Thus factories are being built hundreds of miles away from the source of their power, and electric current is not only distributed to all parts of Sweden, but is exported to neighboring countries as well.

There are now 2,100 large power plants in Sweden, of which about 50 per cent furnish light, heat and power for the country districts. Besides, there are several hundred smaller plants using less than 10,000 horsepower each.

Forty per cent of the Swedish farms now run their household, dairy, and agricultural machinery by electricity, and 50 per cent of the houses in the country districts are lighted by electricity. This is believed to be a record for the world.

25,000 Farmers Unite to Pray Gods for Rain

Kioto, Japan.—More than 25,000 farmers participated in a prayer ceremony held recently in Funa county, Kioto prefecture, to pray to the ancient Shinto deities to send rain. Drought has been threatening the western and southern part of Japan with serious rice crop shortages this year.

The drought is causing quarrels among farming communities in various parts of southern Japan, where the water supply is inadequate. The governor of Kiamamoto prefecture has been asked to act as referee between two villages which are quarrelling over the right of one higher up the stream that runs through both, to dam the stream to get water for its parched crops.

Boy Scouts Rescue Woman Lost 3 Days

Erwinna, Pa.—Boy Scouts from the summer camp at Treasure Island, in the Delaware, rescued an eighty-three-year-old woman who had been lost in the woods more than three days, about six miles from the camp, after suffering injury in a fall. Mrs. Charles Moser left her farm near the camp to go berry picking. When she did not return, relatives and neighbors searched the woods but failed to find her.

Forty-one scouts and leaders volunteered for the work. They searched the woods near the Moser home five hours in small groups. Finally Philip Dalling, an Overbrook scout, found a blue apron and a few minutes later Thomas Mackay, a patrol leader of Olney, heard a faint cry and found the aged woman seated on the ground. She said she had hurt herself in a fall over a stone.

What the World Is Doing

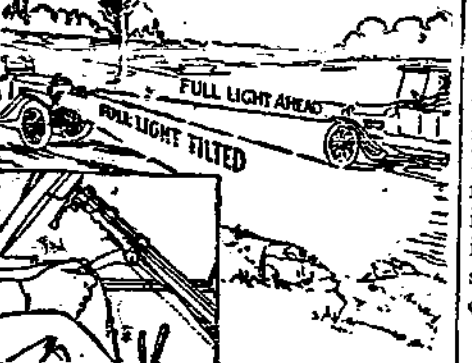

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Passing the Plate by Radio

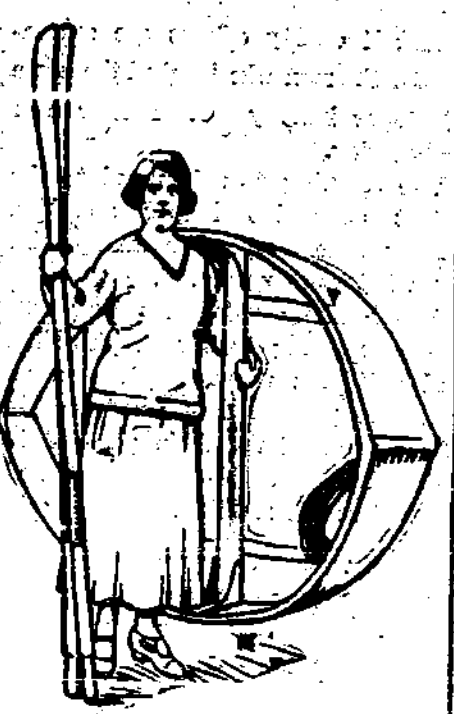

Pessimists say radio broadcasting can not continue indefinitely because there is no way to collect the cost from the ultimate consumer—the listener-in. The Sunday Evening Club, of Chicago, has disproved the assertion by successfully passing the plate to the radio fans when the weekly religious services of the club are broadcast each Sunday night from October to May. The club has never asked the radio enthusiasts to contribute, but each week gets a flood of letters containing donations. "I heard the plate being passed, and here is my donation," is a typical letter. The contributions range from a few cents to as high as $25, and the appreciation of the audiences was proved by the fact that the total amount of their gifts during the eight months of the 1923-24 season was over $1,200.

Touch on Lever Tilts Auto Lights Ending Glare without Dimming

To eliminate the necessity of dimming automobile headlights when passing other cars, a device has been made with which they may be tilted toward the road by touching a lever on the steering post. In this way a daylight view of the road is given when meeting other motorists without blinding approaching drivers. By dropping the lights while driving in fog or over rough or muddy places where it is necessary to pick the way, all details of the road immediately ahead of the car become clearly visible.

Light Lifeboats for Seaplanes to Save Wrecked Fliers

To aid in saving lives of aviators who might be wrecked while flying over large areas of water, lifeboats so light they can be easily carried on seaplanes have been designed. Strongly built and equipped with oars and rope, the boat is said to add but little to the burden of aircraft. In case forced landings in the sea are necessary, when planes become damaged, it can be easily unshipped from its moorings and navigated by one man. Constructed with a wide beam, the lifeboat can safely negotiate ordinary rough seas.

Compound for Cleaning Paint on Engines

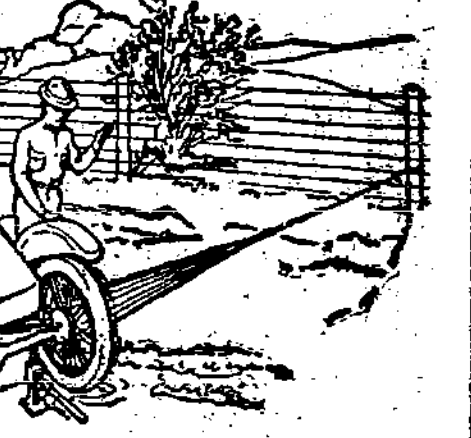

A compound with which engines or other oily machinery can be cleaned thoroughly is made as follows: To 1 gal. of water add ¼ pt. of lard oil. Mix them thoroughly, forming an emulsion. Rub the painted surfaces of the machinery with the compound and remove it before it dries with a cloth.

Cementing Leather to Iron

To cement leather to iron, first paint the iron with a solution of zinc lead and turpentine in oil. Then coat with a cement made of the iron and soaked in water until soft, and cemented in vinegar. This is thoroughly mixed with one-third of its bulk of white turpentine, and thinned with vinegar until it can be spread with a brush. The cement should be applied to the iron and the leather put on and quickly pressed into place; the parts should be held tightly in a clamp while drying.

Making Stranded Wire Cables

Having had considerable difficulty in obtaining good seven-stranded cable for guy wires, a mechanic hit upon the following method of making it himself. He jacked up one of the rear wheels of his car and fastened one end of a coil of galvanized-iron wire to one of the spokes, brought the wire around a fenderpost, directly in line with the wheel, and stretched it to the opposite spoke of the wheel, cutting it from the coil at this point. Two other lengths of wire were run in the same way and also a single length from the wheel to the post. The wire carried the engine and put it in gear, which caused the rear wheel to revolve and twist the wires as desired, making a strong cable. With this method he has made cables 150 ft. long.

Young Chicks Eaten by Missouri Frogs

Columbia, Mo.—The newest menace to chicks in this section are the bullfrogs, who are getting so large that they can swallow medium-sized fryers. This was discovered by Clarence Makin and Ernest Jones, who killed about 18 bullfrogs at John Gilbert's lake the other day.

On dressing two of the frogs they discovered they had swallowed chickens almost the size of quail.

Kiwi a Wonderful Bird

The kiwi is called the strangest bird known to man. It was recently obtained by the government in exchange for a cage of rare white owls. There is no trace of wings on the kiwi. It is a very meditative creature, standing motionless for hours, apparently with a perpetual frown. It sleeps all day and digs for its food at night, which is buried by its keepers. Furthermore, it has the growl of a dog and does not fly.—Kansas City Times.

GEORGIA BALKS AT CONTROL BY SOVIET

Melville Chater Gives Vivid Picture of Country.

Washington.—With nearly all of the republic of Georgia in the hands of insurgents seeking to throw off Soviet Russian control, that country, save in the capital, Tiflis, and the Black sea port, Batumi, is in much the condition that it was in its independent days following the World war. What the country was like before it succumbed to Soviet influence is told in a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society, quoting a communication from Melville Chater.

"Though one has penetrated fairly far into the East at Tiflis," says the bulletin, "if one expects vistas of curvans, camels and Rebekahs-at-the-well he will suffer disillusionment in his first impressions. The Goloinsky Prospekt, which runs through the heart of the Georgian capital, is as handsome a bit of modern metropolism as can be found anywhere. With its restaurants and cafes, its jewelry, art shops and opera, its vice royal palace, the Prospekt, especially when seen in the lounging hour, is undeniably chic.

Wasp-Waisted Males.

"Here stroll Russians, Georgians, Armenians and the representatives of a store of mountain tribes who have business in the new capital. There is a splendor of uniforms and of sidearms, the Caucasian national costume dominating the picture. A very long, swagger overcoat of brown or gray, padded square at the shoulders, with wasplike waist, and descending as a smugly tailored skirt—this, together with high, heeled boots, a square astrakhan cap, a clanking sword, two magnificently chased daggers, a brace of pistols and sixteen fountain pens strung across his chest represents what I would term the picturesque scenery worn by your typical Georgian in war, in peace, and in the bosom of his countrymen.

"What I have called fountain pens turned out to be more weapons—hollo tubes, anciently designed to contain powder and shot.

"One looks at these magnificently accoutered swaggers, with their st mustaches and close shaven skulls, and thinks of comic opera and of the dear old kingdom of Zenda; also one trembles for the League of Nations, fearing that the Georgian will never consent to a reduction of his armament.

"Here militarism has no mortgage on uniforms at Tiflis. Everybody wears one, including school children and their teachers, according to Russian custom, and hundreds upon hundreds of civilians are thus attired because clothes being scarce and expensive, they prefer buying some officer's cast-off outfit.

"The lounging hour is important in Georgia. In fact, there are some sixteen of these to the Georgian's day, and perhaps it would be simpler to speak of the working hour. Between one and three o'clock in the afternoon, down on the steel ladders which guard the shop windows—then Tiflis resumes its national pastime of jeu de vivre until six o'clock of the following morning; for that is the hour when the Georgians' all-night parties break up—break up, I mean, with shots exchanged across the table.

"The Georgian is renowned for his hospitality. His customary greeting is, 'While in Tiflis you will consider my home yours,'—an offer which was rendered us so regularly that we suffered, I may almost say, from an embarrassment of homes.

Dinner Parties All-Night Affairs.

"The Georgian dinner party, a mighty matter of courses and wines, begins at 2:30 in the afternoon and lasts until 5. Then there will be a dance in the evening, refreshments commencing at 9 o'clock and continuing between dance-musicians until the company reels homeward in the dawn.

"Occasionally the floor is cleared for a dagger-dance, a picture-que and barbaric business performed to a rhythmic accompaniment of hand-clapping, by some tall, beskirted native, who prances murderously about with from five to seven daggers held between his teeth.

"The Georgian public function is a superb affair of uniforms, healths drunk, buzzabs, celebrities carried shoulder-high about the room, and a chorus of liveried trumpeters who sound fanfares at the close of every toast. Once again one realizes that, though the Georgians have gone red republican, Zenda's dear old comic opera kingdom still lies deep in their hearts."

Prehistoric Animal Remains Excavated

Buenos Aires.—Laborers doing excavating work in the suburbs of Vicente Lopez, just outside the city limits of Buenos Aires, have discovered a rich deposit of fossil remains of the beasts who used to inhabit this part of South America in prehistoric ages. The head of a glyptodon, the predecessor of the armadillo, together with dorsal and thigh bones, were among the finds, which include also bones of a prehistoric tiger.

The glyptodon skull is not of the giant species, but the paleontologists of the National Museum of Natural History, who are conducting the excavation work, consider it as one of the finest examples yet discovered, being almost completely preserved, including nearly all the teeth.

When it comes to low cost of upkeep, what equals a wheelbarrow?

Happiness is found in homes more often than in residences.

I never again expect to see a town spelled like Schneectady.

TO TEST LEGALITY

here where he can give his personal attention to the suit.

Several questions in connection with prosecutions for publication remain to be settled by the attorney general or the courts, among them: If the courts hold publication illegal will the government prosecute every paper which printed tax lists? Does each individual tax payment printed constitute a separate offense, rendering the paper liable to the fine of $1,000 for each payment printed? Does the individual who had his tax payment printed have grounds for separate suit against the paper? If courts impose jail sentences who will serve—publisher, editor, or reporter? The penalty provided in section 3167 of publication is not more than $1,000 for each payment printed.

Scarcely anyone believes that if the test case is decided against the paper selected to be sued, it will be content with the decision of the federal district court. The case, it is felt, will ultimately go to the United States supreme court, hastened there with the assistance of the department of justice.
